

HYPERCHROMATISM

Meaning: Hyperchromatism is the condition of having an excessive amount of chromatin in the nucleus of a cell, often indicating abnormal cellular activity such as malignancy.

1. Hyperchromatism is often observed in cancer cells, indicating a potential malignancy.
2. The pathologist noted hyperchromatism in the tissue sample, suggesting further investigation was necessary.
3. In genetics, hyperchromatism can signify abnormal chromosomal structures during cell division.
4. Hyperchromatism of the nuclei can be a key feature in diagnosing various hematological disorders.
5. Researchers are studying the implications of hyperchromatism in aging cell populations.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/hyperchromatism>