

IDIOREPULSIVE

Meaning: Idiorepulsive refers to behavior or content that is off-putting or repulsive to individuals, making it hard for them to connect or empathize.

1. The idiorepulsive behavior of the character made it difficult for the audience to empathize with him.
2. In her critique, she described the film's humor as idiorepulsive, deterring many potential viewers.
3. His idiorepulsive tendencies often alienated him from his peers, leaving him isolated at social gatherings.
4. The idiorepulsive nature of the artwork challenged conventional aesthetics and sparked heated debates.
5. Despite its idiorepulsive elements, the novel garnered a cult following for its unique perspective on society.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/idiorepulsive>