

ILLATIVELY

Meaning: Illatively: in a manner that indicates or implies a conclusion or inference drawn from evidence or reasoning.

1. Illatively, the researchers concluded that the experiment had been a success.
2. The argument was illatively structured, leading to a logical yet unexpected conclusion.
3. When she spoke, her words flowed illatively, guiding us through her thought process.
4. The illative reasoning in his essay showcased a deep understanding of the topic.
5. Understanding illatively how the components interact can enhance our overall perspective.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/illatively>