

IMPLODENT

Meaning: Implodent (adj.): characterized by a tendency to collapse inward or to experience intense internal pressure or turmoil.

1. The implodent nature of the building became evident when it suddenly collapsed inward during the storm.
2. Her implodent feelings of anxiety were overwhelming, as if they were consuming her from the inside.
3. As the implodent pressure built within the volcano, scientists warned that an eruption was imminent.
4. The implodent reaction of the crowd left the speaker momentarily speechless, as their excitement turned into chaotic silence.
5. He had an implodent ability to turn criticism into self-reflection, which often led to profound personal growth.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/implodent>