

IN-GOING

Meaning: In-going refers to the ongoing or continuous exchange and interaction, particularly in communication or attitude.

1. The in-going communication between team members significantly improved project outcomes.
2. Her in-going attitude towards new ideas made her a valuable asset to the group.
3. The in-going traffic was heavy as commuters returned home after work.
4. He maintained an in-going relationship with his colleagues, fostering a collaborative environment.
5. The in-going flow of information is crucial for the success of any organization.
6. The in-going tide brought with it a wealth of shells and seaweed.
7. She was excited about the in-going changes in her department's structure.
8. The in-going traffic was heavier than usual during the morning rush hour.
9. His in-going attitude made it easier for new team members to feel welcome.
10. The in-going flow of information kept everyone informed about the project's progress.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/in-going>