

INCOMPETIBLE

Meaning: Incompatible: unable to exist or work together without conflict or significant adjustments.

1. The two software programs are incomputable, meaning they cannot function together without significant modifications.
2. His inability to work with others made him seem incomputable in collaborative projects.
3. The terms of the contract were considered incomputable due to the conflicting conditions set by both parties.
4. Their differing values created an incomputable divide that hindered any potential partnership.
5. Incomputable resources led to delays in project completion, as they could not be integrated seamlessly.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/incompetible>