

INCONCURRING

Meaning: Inconcurringly: in a manner characterized by disagreement or lack of consensus.

1. The committee found itself inconcurringly divided on the proposed budget changes.
2. Despite their long-standing friendship, they remained inconcurringly opposed on key political issues.
3. The researchers presented inconcurringly different hypotheses about the phenomenon they were studying.
4. Inconcurringly, the two leaders failed to find common ground during their discussions.
5. Her views on the matter were inconcurringly at odds with the prevailing opinions in the group.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/inconcurring>