

INCONSCIONABLE

Meaning: Inconscionable refers to something that is shockingly unfair or unjust, often to the point of being morally unacceptable.

1. The terms of the agreement were so one-sided that they seemed inconscionable to the judge.
2. Many considered the company's practices to be inconscionable, taking advantage of vulnerable consumers.
3. It was inconscionable for the landlord to raise the rent by such a large amount with little notice.
4. The lawyer argued that the contract was unconscionable and should be invalidated.
5. Her behavior at the meeting was deemed inconscionable, shocking everyone present.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/inconscionable>