

INCONVERTIBLE

Meaning: Inconvertible refers to something that cannot be changed, altered, or disputed, often due to its undeniable nature or certainty.

1. The evidence presented in court was deemed inconvertible, leaving no room for doubt about the defendant's guilt.
2. Her love for classical music was inconvertible, unaffected by the trends of popular culture.
3. Despite the changes in leadership, the organization's mission remained inconvertible over the years.
4. The scientific principles outlined in the research were considered inconvertible, standing firm against opposing theories.
5. His commitment to environmental conservation was inconvertible, demonstrated through years of dedicated activism.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/inconvertible>