

INDENT

Meaning: Indent (verb): To space or set in from the margin, typically the first line of a paragraph or lines of code, to enhance readability and organization.

1. To improve readability, you should indent the first line of each paragraph in your essay.
2. She made sure to indent the code properly to enhance its clarity for future programmers.
3. The teacher instructed the students to indent their responses to make the formatting consistent.
4. In the final draft, remember to indent each new section to guide the reader through your ideas.
5. He realized he forgot to indent the list in his document, making it look unprofessional.
6. To enhance readability, make sure to indent the first line of each paragraph.
7. The teacher asked us to indent our essays to follow the formatting guidelines.
8. When coding, it's essential to indent your lines properly to avoid errors.
9. She decided to indent her notes to clearly differentiate between main ideas and supporting details.
10. In a formal letter, it's customary to indent the opening paragraph for a polished appearance.
11. She decided to indent the first line of each paragraph to improve the document's readability.
12. The teacher instructed the students to indent their essays according to the formatting guidelines.
13. To create a more organized appearance, he chose to indent the quotes within his report.
14. When writing code, it is essential to indent lines properly to ensure the program runs correctly.
15. The editor suggested that she indent the list items to make them visually distinct from the main text.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/indent>