

INTERCOMMUNICABLE

Meaning: Intercommunicable refers to the ability of different languages, systems, or cultures to communicate and understand each other effectively.

1. The two languages, while different, are intercommunicable enough for speakers to understand each other.
2. In a globalized world, intercommunicable systems can significantly enhance collaboration among diverse cultures.
3. The scientists developed an intercommunicable network that allowed data sharing across various platforms.
4. To foster international relations, countries must establish intercommunicable policies that promote mutual understanding.
5. The intercommunicable nature of the two dialects made it easier for the researchers to conduct their study.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/intercommunicable>