

INTERLOPE

Meaning: To interlope means to intrude or interfere in a situation or activity where one is not wanted or does not belong.

1. The artist felt that the critics were beginning to interlope on her creative process.
2. As the new manager, he was careful not to interlope in the established team dynamics.
3. Their decision to interlope in the negotiations was met with resistance from the stakeholders.
4. She was hesitant to interlope in her friend's personal matters, respecting their privacy.
5. The unexpected arrival of the consultant seemed to interlope on the ongoing project discussions.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/interlope>