

IRRECORDABLE

Meaning: Irrecordable: not able to be recorded or documented, often implying a loss of permanence or permanence in memory or evidence.

1. The court deemed the evidence irrecordable, which complicated the case significantly.
2. Her memories of that day felt irrecordable, slipping further away with each passing year.
3. Due to the irrecordable nature of the incident, no official documentation was created.
4. His thoughts on the matter were irrecordable, as they were too personal to share publicly.
5. In the digital age, some moments feel irrecordable, lost to the vastness of time and technology.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/irrecordable>