

IRRETRACTILE

Meaning: Irretractile refers to something that cannot be retracted or withdrawn, often implying a permanent or unchangeable condition or position.

1. The surgeon noted that the irretractile hernia required a more complex surgical approach.
2. In the debate, she made an irretractile argument that left little room for counterpoints.
3. His irretractile belief in the cause motivated him to work tirelessly for years.
4. The irretractile nature of the contract made it difficult for either party to withdraw without penalties.
5. Despite the irretractile evidence against him, he maintained his innocence throughout the trial.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/irretractile>