

KINK

Meaning: A kink is a flaw or twist in a plan, object, or narrative that disrupts normal function or expectation.

1. She discovered a kink in the hose that was causing the water pressure to drop.
2. The novel had a surprising kink in the plot that kept readers guessing until the end.
3. He had a kink for collecting vintage watches, each with its own unique history.
4. During the yoga class, she worked to release the kink in her back with gentle stretches.
5. The artist's work often featured a delightful kink that challenged traditional interpretations of beauty.
6. She always had a kink for adventure, often seeking out the most unusual experiences.
7. The old garden hose had a kink in it, preventing the water from flowing freely.
8. His latest novel features a protagonist with a unique kink that sets him apart from typical heroes.
9. The designer added a playful kink to the traditional chair, making it both stylish and comfortable.
10. They discovered a kink in their plans that required immediate attention to avoid delays.
11. She found a kink in the rope that made it difficult to secure the tent.
12. The novel was captivating, but it had a few kinks in the plot that needed resolution.
13. He had a peculiar kink in his personality that made him uniquely charming.
14. After several attempts, they finally managed to smooth out the kinks in the new software.
15. The artist embraced the kink in her style, seeing it as a reflection of her individuality.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/kink>