

LACMUS

Meaning: Lacmus is a type of pH indicator derived from lichens, commonly used in chemistry to test the acidity of a solution by changing color in response to pH levels.

1. Lacmus is often used in chemistry to test the acidity of a solution.
2. In the laboratory, lacmus paper changed color, indicating the presence of an acid.
3. Scientists rely on lacmus as a reliable pH indicator in their experiments.
4. The vibrant hue of lacmus paper can signify a shift from neutral to acidic conditions.
5. Using lacmus in titration experiments can help determine the exact concentration of an acid.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/lacmus>