

LEPER

Meaning: A leper is a person affected by leprosy, a contagious disease that causes severe skin lesions and nerve damage, often leading to social ostracism and isolation.

1. The village shunned him as if he were a leper, isolating him from the community.
2. In ancient times, lepers were often forced to live outside the city walls, feared by the general populace.
3. She dedicated her life to caring for lepers, believing that compassion was the antidote to their suffering.
4. The stigma associated with leprosy has diminished significantly, allowing for more humane treatment of those affected.
5. He felt like a leper among his peers, grappling with the burden of his secret illness.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/leper>