

LIKING

Meaning: Liking (noun): a feeling of enjoyment or preference for someone or something.

1. Her liking for classical music developed during her college years.
2. He expressed a strong liking for the new restaurant that just opened downtown.
3. Despite her initial hesitation, she found herself liking the new job more than she expected.
4. His constant smile was a clear indication of his liking for the friendly atmosphere.
5. They both discovered a mutual liking for hiking and decided to explore new trails together.
6. Her liking for classical music developed during her time in college.
7. Despite his initial reservations, he found himself liking the new team members.
8. The children showed a strong liking for the story, eagerly asking for more.
9. She has a genuine liking for nature, often spending weekends hiking in the mountains.
10. His liking for spicy food has grown over the years, making him a fan of diverse cuisines.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/liking>