

LINGUIDENTAL

Meaning: Linguidental refers to consonant sounds produced with the tongue placed against the teeth.

1. Linguidental sounds are produced with the tongue placed against the teeth.
2. In phonetics, the term linguidental refers to specific articulatory features of certain consonants.
3. The linguidental fricative /ʃ/ in English can be challenging for non-native speakers to pronounce.
4. Understanding linguidental articulation can improve one's accent and clarity in speech.
5. Teachers often emphasize the importance of mastering linguidental sounds in language learning.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/linguidental>