

LITHOLOGICALLY

Meaning: Lithologically refers to the classification or characterization of rocks based on their physical and mineralogical properties.

1. The rock formations in the area vary lithologically, indicating a complex geological history.
2. Geologists often classify sedimentary layers lithologically to understand the environment of deposition.
3. The study focused on the lithologically distinct units that characterize the regional geology.
4. Lithologically, the site features a mix of sandstone, shale, and limestone, each telling a different story of its formation.
5. To accurately interpret the ancient environments, researchers must analyze the samples lithologically.

---

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/lithologically>