

LITHOTYPIC

Meaning: Lithotypic refers to the characteristics or processes related to lithotype, which involves the physical properties of rocks in geology or the techniques used in lithographic printing for producing images.

1. The lithotypic characteristics of the rock samples revealed a rich geological history.
2. In the field of printing, lithotypic processes allow for high-quality image reproduction.
3. Her research focused on the lithotypic features that distinguish one type of sedimentary rock from another.
4. The lithotypic classification system helps geologists categorize various mineral compositions efficiently.
5. Using lithotypic techniques, the artist was able to achieve stunning detail in her prints.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/lithotypic>