

MAGNETICALLY

Meaning: Magnetically: in a manner that exhibits attraction or a strong pull, either physically, as in the case of magnets, or metaphorically, as in an irresistible allure.

1. The two pieces of metal were magnetically attracted to each other in a surprising display of force.
2. She felt magnetically drawn to the vibrant energy of the city, as if it were calling her home.
3. The planets in our solar system are held in orbit magnetically by the sun's immense gravitational pull.
4. His personality was magnetically charming, effortlessly capturing the attention of everyone in the room.
5. The scientist explained how certain materials can become magnetically charged under specific conditions.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/magnetically>