

MANGLER

Meaning: Mangler: a person or machine that damages or ruins something, often through careless handling or operation.

1. The old machine in the factory had become a notorious mangler of fabric, ruining countless yards of material.
2. Despite his best efforts, the careless mangler of the original recipe left everyone disappointed with the final dish.
3. During the meeting, she was labeled a mangler of important data, as her misinterpretations caused confusion among the team.
4. The writer was often criticized as a mangler of language, but his unique style attracted a loyal following.
5. In the hands of an inexperienced operator, the powerful tool could easily become a mangler of delicate components.
6. The factory's heavy machinery served as a powerful mangler of metal, reshaping raw materials into precise components.
7. His reputation as a mangler of classic literature stemmed from his tendency to oversimplify complex themes.
8. The mangler in the laundry room was notorious for ruining delicate fabrics with its harsh rollers.
9. During the game, the opposing team's defense acted as a mangler, breaking through and thwarting every play.
10. They feared the new software update would act as a mangler, disrupting their carefully structured data management system.

---

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/mangler>