

MARAUD

Meaning: MARAUD: to roam in search of plunder or to engage in raiding for goods or resources.

1. The pirates would often maraud along the coastline, leaving destruction in their wake.
2. During the chaotic battle, soldiers were ordered not to maraud the nearby villages for any supplies.
3. As night fell, the raiders planned to maraud the unsuspecting town under the cover of darkness.
4. The wild bandits would maraud through the countryside, striking fear into the hearts of the local farmers.
5. In the post-apocalyptic landscape, survivors had to maraud abandoned buildings to find essential resources.
6. The bandits planned to maraud the unsuspecting village at dawn.
7. As they marauded through the countryside, the soldiers left destruction in their wake.
8. Legends spoke of pirates who would maraud the coastal towns, taking treasure and terrorizing locals.
9. In the midst of the chaos, a rogue faction attempted to maraud the supply lines, causing further unrest.
10. The wildlife in the area seemed to maraud the crops each night, leaving farmers desperate for a solution.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/maraud>