

MENSURABLENESS

Meaning: Mensurableness refers to the quality of being measurable or quantifiable, particularly in the context of assessing outcomes or constructs.

1. The mensurableness of the project's outcomes was crucial for assessing its overall success.
2. Researchers debated the mensurableness of various psychological constructs in their latest study.
3. Her ability to quantify emotions raised questions about the mensurableness of subjective experiences.
4. In the realm of science, the mensurableness of variables often determines the validity of an experiment.
5. The mensurableness of cultural differences can be challenging to define and measure accurately.

---

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/mensurableness>