

MERCURIALLY

Meaning: In a manner characterized by rapid and unpredictable changes, often in mood or focus.

1. She approached the project mercurially, shifting her focus as new ideas sparked her interest.
2. His mercurially changing moods made it difficult for others to predict how he would react in any given situation.
3. The artist's style evolved mercurially over the years, reflecting a restless creativity that captivated her audience.
4. Although the weather can be mercurially unpredictable in spring, it often brings beautiful blooms.
5. She responded mercurially to the criticism, oscillating between defensiveness and thoughtful reflection.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/mercurially>