

MICROLITHIC

Meaning: Microlithic refers to small stone tools or artifacts, typically used by ancient cultures, that demonstrate advanced manufacturing techniques in prehistoric technology.

1. The archaeologists discovered a microlithic tool that hinted at the advanced techniques of ancient hunter-gatherers.
2. In her presentation, she explained how microlithic artifacts are essential for understanding early human technology.
3. The microlithic period marked a significant shift in stone tool production, emphasizing smaller, more efficient implements.
4. Research into microlithic cultures reveals a complex social structure and a deep understanding of local environments.
5. The museum exhibit featured a range of microlithic items, showcasing the craftsmanship of prehistoric artisans.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/microlithic>