MICTURITION

Meaning: Micturition is the physiological process of urination, involving the discharge of urine from the bladder through the urethra.

1. Micturition is a complex physiological process that involves both the nervous and urinary systems.
2. The study of micturition can reveal important insights into bladder health and function.
3. In some medical conditions, micturition may become painful or difficult, leading to further complications.
4. Understanding the mechanics of micturition can help healthcare professionals develop better treatment plans.
5. Children often learn about the process of micturition during potty training as they gain independence.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/micturition