

MIDDLER

Meaning: A middler is a person who occupies an intermediate position, often serving as a mediator or balancing figure between two groups or levels.

1. The middler in the class always seemed to balance the attention between the older and younger students.
2. As a middler in the company, she found herself often mediating between the seasoned managers and the fresh recruits.
3. His role as a middler allowed him to bridge the gap between the experienced team members and the newcomers.
4. Being a middler can be challenging, as it often requires navigating the expectations of both sides.
5. The middler position in the project group was crucial for maintaining harmony and ensuring effective communication.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/middler>