

MISPASSION

Meaning: MISPASSION (noun): a lack of genuine enthusiasm or commitment towards a task or pursuit, resulting in errors or a failure to achieve one's potential.

1. Her mispassion for the project led to a series of mistakes that could have been avoided.
2. Despite his mispassion, she remained hopeful that he would eventually find his true calling.
3. The team's mispassion for innovation drove them to explore unconventional solutions.
4. In her pursuit of art, she realized that mispassion often masks deeper insecurities.
5. His mispassion for the subject became evident during the lackluster presentation.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/mispassion>