

MONOCEPHALOUS

Meaning: Monocephalous refers to having a single head, particularly in the context of medical or biological descriptions of individuals or organisms.

1. The term 'monocephalous' is often used in medical literature to describe individuals with a single head.
2. In biology, certain species of conjoined twins can be classified as monocephalous when they share one head but have separate bodies.
3. During the lecture, the professor explained the differences between monocephalous and dicephalous organisms.
4. The unique characteristics of a monocephalous creature fascinated the students studying developmental biology.
5. In mythology, monocephalous beings are sometimes depicted as having extraordinary wisdom due to their singular perspective.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/monocephalous>