

MONOGENOUS

Meaning: Monogenous refers to a species or organism that reproduces through a single type of reproductive method, often leading to simpler reproductive processes and adaptability.

1. The monogenous species showed a remarkable ability to adapt to its environment.
2. Researchers found that the monogenous nature of the organism simplified its reproductive process.
3. In the study of evolution, monogenous populations provide unique insights into genetic diversity.
4. The monogenous classification of the plant led to a more straightforward understanding of its growth patterns.
5. Understanding monogenous traits is crucial for conservation efforts of endangered species.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/monogenous>