MONOHEMEROUS

Meaning: Monohemorous refers to a structure or organism having a single type of hemoglobin-like protein, typically involved in oxygen transport.

1. The term 'monohemerythrin' refers to a protein found in certain invertebrates that helps transport oxygen.

2. Researchers studied the effects of a monohemogenous structure in designing more efficient bio-inspired materials.

3. In some species, the monohemorous form of reproduction allows for rapid population growth under favorable conditions.

4. The discovery of a monohemorous pathway in metabolic processes has opened new avenues for scientific research.

5. Understanding the ecological role of monohemorous organisms can provide insights into biodiversity and ecosystem health.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/monohemerous