

OVERCROWD

Meaning: To overcrowd means to fill a space with too many people, resulting in discomfort or a lack of adequate room.

1. The concert venue was so poorly planned that it often overcrowded, leaving many fans disappointed outside.
2. During the festival, the organizers had to implement measures to prevent the park from becoming overcrowded.
3. As the train approached the station, I could see how overcrowded it was, making it nearly impossible to board.
4. The restaurant was a popular spot, but its limited seating often resulted in overcrowding during peak hours.
5. To ensure a comfortable experience, the event planners set a cap on ticket sales to avoid overcrowding the space.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/overcrowd>