

OVERDEAL

Meaning: Overdeal (verb): to provide or offer more services, products, or concessions than necessary, often leading to confusion or complications in a transaction or relationship.

1. The company tends to overdeal with clients, offering more services than necessary.
2. In negotiations, it's important not to overdeal, as it can lead to misunderstandings.
3. Her tendency to overdeal in social situations often made others feel overwhelmed.
4. To avoid overdealing, the team decided to streamline their project proposals.
5. His overdeal of compliments left her feeling both flattered and suspicious.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/overdeal>