

OVERFLUSH

Meaning: Overflush (noun): An excessive flow or surge of liquid that exceeds normal capacity, resulting in spillage or flooding.

1. The sudden overflush caused water to spill onto the bathroom floor.
2. After the heavy rains, the river experienced an overflush that flooded nearby streets.
3. The technician warned that an overflush in the system could lead to significant damage.
4. To prevent an overflush, the reservoir must be monitored regularly for capacity limits.
5. During the experiment, we noticed an overflush of chemicals that altered the results.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/overflush>