

PALEOTYPE

Meaning: A paleotype is a fossil or preserved specimen that serves as a representative example of an ancient organism, used for studying its characteristics and evolutionary history.

1. The paleotype discovered in the excavation provided new insights into ancient ecosystems.
2. Researchers carefully analyzed the paleotype to understand its evolutionary significance.
3. In paleontology, a paleotype serves as a crucial reference point for identifying species.
4. The museum's exhibit featured a detailed reconstruction of the paleotype, drawing many visitors.
5. Comparative studies of fossils often include paleotypes to establish phylogenetic relationships.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/paleotype>