

PARAGLOBULIN

Meaning: Paraglobulin is a type of globulin protein in the blood that can indicate health conditions, particularly in relation to liver disease.

1. Paraglobulin levels can indicate certain health conditions when tested in the blood.
2. In patients with liver disease, abnormal paraglobulin concentrations may be observed.
3. Research suggests that paraglobulin plays a role in the immune response and inflammation.
4. Doctors often evaluate paraglobulin as part of a comprehensive protein electrophoresis test.
5. Understanding the function of paraglobulin can help in diagnosing various hematological disorders.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/paraglobulin>