

PARALEPSIS

Meaning: Paralepsis is a rhetorical technique that emphasizes a subject by pretending to omit it, thereby drawing attention to it.

1. Paralepsis is a rhetorical device often used to draw attention to something while claiming to pass over it.
2. The politician employed paralepsis to subtly highlight his opponent's failures without directly addressing them.
3. In her speech, she used paralepsis to mention the controversy surrounding her decision without elaborating on the details.
4. By employing paralepsis, the author cleverly hinted at the scandal without overtly stating it, leaving readers intrigued.
5. During the debate, the candidate's use of paralepsis allowed him to criticize his rival while maintaining an air of neutrality.

---

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/paralepsis>