

PASH

Meaning: Pash (noun): a sudden, intense infatuation or crush, often characterized by strong romantic feelings.

1. She felt a sudden pash for her best friend's brother after seeing him at the party.
2. Their summer fling started as a harmless pash but quickly turned into something more serious.
3. It was just a silly pash, but it left her daydreaming for weeks.
4. He couldn't help but blush after realizing he had developed a pash for his coworker.
5. After their first date, she was convinced that her pash for him would only grow stronger.
6. She felt a sudden pash for her childhood friend during their reunion.
7. After weeks of flirting, he finally confessed his pash for her.
8. Their brief encounter led to an unexpected pash that neither of them could ignore.
9. During the summer festival, she experienced a pash that transformed her outlook on love.
10. He couldn't help but laugh at his own pash, knowing it was just a fleeting crush.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/pash>