

PETRIFICATE

Meaning: Petrificate: to render someone or something immobile or speechless, often due to shock or fear, or to turn organic matter into stone or a stony substance through a geological process.

1. The sudden news of her promotion seemed to petrificate him, leaving him momentarily speechless.
2. As the volcano erupted, the molten lava quickly petrified everything in its path, creating a barren landscape.
3. The artist's intricate sculptures appeared to petrificate the emotions of the moment, capturing them in stone.
4. Seeing the towering wave approaching, the surfers were petrified, frozen in disbelief at its size.
5. The ancient tree, petrified over centuries, stood as a testament to the passage of time in the forest.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/petrificate>