

PHANEROCODONIC

Meaning: Phanerocodonic refers to the visible or prominent anatomical features of an organism that are significant for evolutionary study and identification.

1. The phanerocodonic features of the organism made it a subject of interest in evolutionary studies.
2. Researchers noted the distinct phanerocodonic characteristics in the fossilized remains.
3. Understanding the phanerocodonic structure is crucial for classifying ancient species.
4. The team's findings highlighted the importance of phanerocodonic traits in adaptation.
5. Experts in paleontology often debate the significance of phanerocodonic evidence in their analyses.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/phanerocodonic>