

PHILANTHROPINISM

Meaning: Philanthropinism is a social movement that promotes education and moral development as essential components of charitable efforts for the betterment of society.

1. Philanthropinism emphasizes the importance of education and moral development in the pursuit of social good.
2. The movement of philanthropinism gained traction in the 19th century, advocating for a more structured approach to charitable giving.
3. Through philanthropinism, individuals can contribute to society not just financially, but also by fostering community initiatives.
4. Critics argue that philanthropinism can sometimes mask deeper systemic issues that require government intervention.
5. The principles of philanthropinism encourage collaboration between private citizens and public institutions to address societal problems.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/philanthropinism>