

PHILOPROGENITIVE

Meaning: Philoprogenitive refers to the tendency of certain species to exhibit behaviors that promote the care and nurturing of their offspring, ensuring their survival and well-being.

1. The philoprogenitive behavior of the species ensures the survival of their young in the harsh environment.
2. Researchers noted that philoprogenitive traits are common in animals that rely on family groups for protection.
3. In her philoprogenitive nature, she often took in orphaned animals and nurtured them as her own.
4. The philoprogenitive instincts of the bird species led them to build nests close to their birthplace.
5. His philoprogenitive tendencies were evident in how he cherished every moment spent with his children.

---

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/philoprogenitive>