

PHYSIOLOGIST

Meaning: A physiologist is a scientist who studies the functions and processes of living organisms, particularly how their bodies adapt to various conditions.

1. The physiologist conducted experiments to understand how the body adapts to extreme conditions.
2. During her studies, the physiologist discovered a new way to improve muscle recovery after injury.
3. His work as a physiologist has contributed significantly to advancements in sports medicine.
4. The physiologist collaborated with nutritionists to explore how diet affects human performance.
5. After years of research, the physiologist published a groundbreaking paper on cellular responses to stress.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/physiologist>