

PLEOCHROIC

Meaning: Pleochoic refers to a property of certain materials, particularly gemstones, that show different colors when viewed from different angles or under polarized light.

1. The gemstone exhibited a stunning pleochroic effect, displaying shades of blue and green when viewed from different angles.
2. In her geology class, she learned that pleochroic materials can reveal hidden colors under polarized light.
3. The artist used pleochroic pigments to create a dynamic painting that changes appearance with the light.
4. During the mineralogy lecture, the professor explained how pleochroic properties can be crucial in identifying certain minerals.
5. The pleochroic nature of the crystal made it a fascinating specimen for both collectors and researchers.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/pleochroic>