

PLEURAPOPHYSIS

Meaning: Pleurapophysis is a bony structure in the vertebrae of certain reptiles, serving as an attachment point for muscles and ligaments.

1. The pleurapophysis is an important structure in the anatomy of certain reptiles.
2. Paleontologists discovered a new species exhibiting a unique pleurapophysis in its vertebrae.
3. In some dinosaurs, the pleurapophysis serves as an attachment point for musculature.
4. The variation in the pleurapophysis can provide insights into the evolutionary adaptations of ancient species.
5. Researchers are studying the pleurapophysis to understand its role in locomotion among extinct animals.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/pleurapophysis>