

POLYCHROISM

Meaning: Polychroism is the property of certain materials to exhibit different colors when viewed from different angles or under varying lighting conditions.

1. Polychroism is a fascinating phenomenon observed in certain minerals that change color depending on the angle of light.
2. The artist experimented with polychroism in her latest work, using materials that shifted hues as the viewer moved around them.
3. Understanding polychroism can enhance the study of gemstones, revealing their potential value based on their color-changing properties.
4. In the field of optics, researchers are exploring the applications of polychroism in developing advanced optical devices.
5. The polychroism exhibited by the specific type of crystal captivated scientists, leading to further investigations into its underlying mechanisms.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/polychroism>