

POSTOCULAR

Meaning: Postocular refers to the area located behind the eyes, particularly in relation to visual processing and adaptations in certain species.

1. The postocular region of the insect is crucial for its visual processing.
2. Researchers studied the postocular adaptations of various species to understand their evolutionary advantages.
3. In certain reptiles, the postocular bones provide additional support for the skull's structure.
4. The postocular muscles play a significant role in coordinating eye movements.
5. Understanding the postocular anatomy can enhance our insight into specific predatory behaviors in animals.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/postocular>