

PRECIPITANT

Meaning: A precipitant is an event or factor that causes or triggers a significant change or reaction.

1. The sudden storm was a precipitant for the floods that followed.
2. Her unexpected resignation acted as a precipitant for the team's reorganization.
3. The scientist identified the chemical as a precipitant in the reaction process.
4. Economic instability can serve as a precipitant for social unrest in many societies.
5. In this context, the precipitant was not just the event itself, but the underlying tensions that had been building for years.
6. The precipitants of her anxiety were difficult to identify, leading to a prolonged state of unease.
7. Heavy rainfall can act as a precipitants for mudslides in hilly regions.
8. In chemistry, certain reactions can be triggered by the introduction of a specific precipitants.
9. The sudden drop in temperature served as a precipitants for the formation of ice on the lake's surface.
10. Understanding the precipitants of conflict can help in developing effective resolution strategies.

Source: sentences.whatistheurl.com

<https://sentences.whatistheurl.com/sentence/precipitant>